Holders, as a rule, were speaking with a little show of cheerfulness, yet a few could be found. was moderate and apparently cautious, general or evenly distributed. The summore favorable. On contracts, there was not much doing, and the market lost tone considerably. A thorough digest of the report from the agricultural o rean shows very much less alarming conditions than were hinted yesterday, and as Liverpool failed to become stim-'bull' lost much vantage ground." The same paper says:
"The Chicago board of trade, following the example of the cotton exchange and board of brokers here, are considering a reposition to adjourn over from the first to the fifth of July. It will probably be adopted. The New York produce exchange will act in the matter on Monday. The dry goods, hardware and other trades, we are informed, are also moving n the same direction." The New York Chronicle, of Saturday, reports: 'The market the past week has ruled stronger for cotton on the spot, with a better busi-ness for export, but the demand for consumption has been held in check by the closing of eastern mill. Any one who has not examined the abreage reports of the agricultural bureau and cotton axchanges, in detail, will be surprised, perhaps, to see how near slike their total results as to acreage are. They differ materially with regard to certain States, and yet the average total decrease for all the States is about the same; that is, about three per cent, in both cases."
